*Hi Oliver,
The men will be earlier than I thought, and I may not be home when they come. Could you tell them which furniture to take to our new house? It's all ready in the living room.
Thanks, Mum*

*Hi Joe,
I need to move out of my flat as I have found a cheaper place, which has a dishwasher and a washing machine. Could you help me move my things, please? You have a big car which could take all my stuff. Let me know if you can help out.
Cheers, Mandy*

- 3.1 Both text are about:
- A moving house.
 - B moving into a cheaper house.
 - C transporting furniture.

Blog

There you go. Two huge bags with my personal things all ready to go to college with me. I'm both excited and stressed. I'll share a room with my best friend, Kasia, which is great, but how am I going to live without my own fridge and washing machine or without my own bed? Goodbye, old home! Welcome, new home!

- 3.2 The girl:
- A is excited about going to college.
 - B is really afraid of living on her own.
 - C is worried she will miss her family.

Subject: I'm home!!!

I'm back home at last! I loved travelling with you, but it's great to sleep in my own room and have my own bathroom. (Joking, of course, the hostels in Germany and France weren't so bad!) Anyway, how are you doing? What is your new place like? Do you like it better than the old one? Write soon and let me know.
Love,
Amelia

- 3.3 Amelia wrote the email:
- A to inform Lily that she's returned home.
 - B to ask Lily how she feels about her new home.
 - C to complain about the hostels she stayed in while travelling.

Subject: Summer accommodation in Cracow?
I need some information about a cheap place to stay in Cracow. My family would like to spend a week there and we're looking for a two-room apartment, with basic equipment and furniture. It must be clean and tidy too. There are lots of adverts on the Net, but I'd like to get some opinions before we choose anything. Please, help.
Charlie

- 3.4 Charlie's family want an apartment:
- A which is situated in the centre of Cracow.
 - B which is recommended by others.
 - C which is fully equipped.

Subject: Holiday camp

Hi Alicia,
I'm writing to tell you about my summer camp. It's really great! I just love the sun, the sea and my windsurfing board. I am sharing a room with Karolina, a girl I met here. She is really nice, and we get on very well with 7.1 The only problem is that the room is really small and 7.2 is very little furniture in it: two beds, a wardrobe, two chairs, and a small table. The wardrobe is so small that we cannot put all our things in 7.3
I'll write more soon – have to run for my afternoon practice.
Kisses,
Ola

Ask Alice!

Dear Alice,
If you don't help 8.1, I think I will go crazy. I live in a semi-detached house and I have a new neighbour next door. She is a nice lady but she is really 8.2 When she is at home, her TV is on all the time. My parents have asked her to turn down the volume a few times, but she says she can't stand 8.3 on her own and that the TV keeps her company. When she is in the garden, she sings old-fashioned songs to 8.4, and she has a really loud voice. What should we do? I know she's really keen on 8.5, but what can we say in order not to hurt her feelings?
Lisa
